

Exclamation marks

can be used

- in direct speech for an exclamation or something said loudly:

‘Help me!’ he shouted.

- when a writer wants to make an amusing point or be ironic:

Their Christmas email arrived in March!

